

Are you pregnant?

WIC can help:

- Healthy food
- Nutrition education
- Breastfeeding support
- Referrals to health care and community services

You are income-eligible for WIC if you are currently receiving Medicaid, Temporary Cash Assistance, or SNAP. Working families who have a low or moderate income may also be eligible for WIC.

You can get WIC even before your first doctor's appointment for your pregnancy.

See if you qualify: visit FloridaWIC.org or SignUpWIC.com or call 1-800-342-3556.

This institution is an equal opportunity provider.

Florida Department of Health
WIC Program