

Special Dietary Needs

Meal Modifications Due to Preference

A dietary preference refers to eating certain foods or eliminating foods from the diet due to a general health concern or personal choice.

For example: “I request that soy milk is given to my child because she doesn’t like the taste of cow’s milk; not because she is lactose intolerant.”

When a parent makes a dietary preference request, the provider will verify that request is not related to a disability, but to a non-disability dietary need, such as:

- Religious (eliminating beef, pork, or eggs)
- Ethnic
- Lifestyle preference (organic, vegetarian)
- Other (health reason not supported by a completed medical statement, e.g., gluten free diet because parent believes it is healthier for the child)

Programs are not required to accommodate dietary preference request but are strongly encouraged to do so. All substitutions must meet CCFP meal pattern requirements.

Required Documentation for Dietary Preference Request

Special Dietary Needs Preference Request Form

- Form must be fully completed and signed by the parent or guardian.

-OR-

Written Statement from Family

- Identifies the non-disability special dietary need, including items not to be served and allowable substitutions.

Accommodating Requests Within the CCFP Meal Pattern

- Preference requests must be managed within the CCFP meal pattern requirements.
- The provider will work with the parent or guardian to determine how and if the request will be accommodated.
- The parent may supply one meal component (that meets the meal pattern requirements), and the provider will supply all other meal components for a reimbursable meal.

Examples of how a provider would accommodate a dietary preference request:

- Offer one type of creditable soymilk to accommodate participants requesting a non-dairy beverage (refer to the CCFP Milk Substitutions List). Because this modification is creditable, the meal meets CCFP requirements and is reimbursable.
- Accommodate vegetarian participants by serving creditable meat alternates.
